

WILL CURE YOU OF Rheumatism

ELSE NO MONEY IS WANTED.

Any honest person who suffers from Rheumatism is welcome to this offer. I am a specialist in Rheumatism, and have treated more cases than any other physician. I think for 10 years I made 100 experiments with different drugs, testing all known remedies while searching the world for something better. Nine years ago I found a costly chemical in Germany which, with my previous discoveries, gives me a certain cure. It means that it can turn bone joints into flesh again; but it can cure the disease at any stage, completely and forever. I have done it fully 100,000 times. I know this so well that I will furnish my remedy on trial. Simply write me a postal for my book on Rheumatism, and I will mail you a bottle of Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Cure. Take it for a month at my risk. If it succeeds, and it will, I will pay you $10.00. If it fails, I will pay the drugist myself—and your mere word shall decide it. I mean that exactly. If you say the results are not what you expect, I don't expect a penny from you. I have no sample that can affect chronic Rheumatism must be drugged to the verge of danger. I use no such drugs, and it is folly to take them. You must get the disease out of the blood. My remedy does that even in the most difficult obstinate cases, and has cured the oldest cases that I ever met. And in all my experience—in all my 2,000 tests—I never found anything that would cure one chronic case in ten. Write me and I will send you the order. Try my remedy for one month, as it can't harm you anyway. If it fails it is free. Address Dr. Shoop, Box 288, Racine, Wis. Mild cases, not chronic, are often cured by one or two bottles. At all drugists.

REX ENTERS INTO HIS OWN

RECORD-BREAKING CROWD

Thrilling Story of Cleopatra Illustrated
In Twenty Beautiful Floats—Admiral
Schley and Gen. Joe Wheeler
Given Great Ovation.

(By Associated Press.)
NEW ORLEANS, La., February 23.—Rex made his triumphant entry into New Orleans to-day, and the Krewe of Proteus presented their gorgeous pageant to the largest multitude of people ever gathered in the streets of this carnival city. The number of strangers exceeded that of any previous year.

Aside from the homage paid the king, the feature of the afternoon parade was the popular demonstration in honor of Admiral Schley and General Wheeler, both of whom had been created dukes of the real for the occasion. They rode near the head of the procession through solid masses of shouting men and crowded galleries of applauding women. At the conclusion of the parade, Admiral Schley, accompanied by Mayor Capdeville and General Wheeler, was escorted by the Continental Guards, in their picturesque costume of the Revolution, to the army of the command, where Attorney Filmore presented the Admiral with a loving cup bearing an engraving of the ship Brooklyn. The Admiral made a felicitous acknowledgment of the gift. Proteus rode through streets congested with people at the head of an unusually magnificent pageant. The subject chosen was Hider Hagerd's novel "Cleopatra," and the thrilling story of the Egyptian queen was illustrated in twenty beautiful floats. Following the parade Proteus was host at a brilliant ball at the French Opera-House. Admiral Schley, General Wheeler, Miss Roosevelt and Miss Root were the distinguished guests.

Nearly every State in the Union was represented in the attendance, which also included many guests from abroad and the officers of the battleship Texas and the French cruiser Tanguet. The curtain rose at a quarter past ten, presenting the maskers grouped in a striking tableau. The maskers occupied the floor for an hour, after which the ball became general.

GERMANY REQUESTS IMMEDIATE PAYMENT

(By Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—After failure in the effort to obtain from Mr. Bowen the immediate payment in cash of the $5,000 sterling, which it was provided in the protocol of February 15th should be paid to Germany thirty days from that date, Germany to-day requested Mr. Bowen to give a draft for the amount, payable in Caracas on the latter date. Mr. Bowen was again forced to decline this request, which he did politely, at the same time reminding Herr Baltazzi that the terms of the peace protocol, which provided that the $5,000 should be paid at Caracas on the 15th of March to the diplomatic representative of Germany.

One of the stipulations of the divorce was that she was to allow her husband $5,000, and this sum was paid him in gold to-day. Mrs. Dowie was married to Mr. Dowie at the time of her marriage to Mr. Dowie.

SONS OF THE REVOLUTION

Two Notable Banquets Last Night; One at Murphy's, Other at Jefferson.
Virginia Has Statue in Statuary
Hall—Houdon's Best of All.

The Sons of the American Revolution had a most enjoyable celebration last night at Murphy's Annex. The banquet and the post-prandial programme were arranged by Dr. J. A. White, Dr. B. B. Minor and Mr. Arthur B. Clarke. An excellent feast of good things was spread, and each son of the American Revolution ate with as much enjoyment, apparently, as some of Washington's soldiers who wintered at Valley Forge might have done had such an opportunity been granted them. About forty were present, all prominent men of city or State. When the discussion of viands had been completed to the satisfaction of all, Mr. Samuel H. Pulliam, second vice-president, was toastmaster in the absence of the president, ex-Judge L. L. Lewis.

GENERAL LEE SPEAKS.
To the toast, "Washington," General Fitzhugh Lee responded. General Lee spoke well. Many said he was never in better voice or brighter wit. He dwelt on Washington's military maneuvers and said that they suffered not at all in the light of modern and more scientific knowledge of warfare.

The fact of the business is, Father George Washington has been holding his own against all kinds of modern lights, and is one of the few historical characters which does not get smaller as one gets away from them. Lieutenant-Governor Willard responded to the toast, "Virginia," and made an excellent speech, though he did not have time to prepare his extemporaneous speech, as so many delightful impromptu speakers like to do.

HAS PUT NONE THERE.
Dr. Lewis, of Washington, late president of the University of Missouri, spoke about the Houdon statue, saying that there were five copies of it in existence. He pronounced the Houdon the best statue of Washington, without exception, in existence.

He said also that the statue of Washington in Statuary Hall, at Washington, was not placed there by Virginia at all, though the inscription, which is the same as that on the Houdon statue says it was.

It is something but a plaster cast, costing only $2,000, and is not worthy of the man or Virginia. The National Government had it put there, and Virginia is suffering the very unprofitable advertisement of having put such a statue of her greatest son in this national hall. Others also spoke. The evening closed with some vocal music by Messrs. Henry Hotchkiss, George Morgan and James Cowardin.

SONS OF THE REVOLUTION.

The Sons of the Revolution held their banquet at the Jefferson. Among those present were Messrs. J. Alston Cabell, Dr. Robert F. Williams, Dr. C. R. Robins, Mr. William Chase Morton, Mr. Alfred B. Williams, Mr. Willis Smith, Colonel T. M. Talcott, B. Munford, Jr., Hon. W. B. Duke, J. R. V. Daniel, Judge Dew and Mr. R. S. Smith.

In the absence of Dr. George Ben Johnston, Mr. Cabell was the toastmaster. Mr. A. B. Williams, Mr. Smith, Judge Dew and others responded to toasts. The Jefferson served them an elegant dinner.

LAID CORNER-STONE OF GALVESTON'S SEA WALL

HIS BIRTHDAY WAS OBSERVED

Memory of George Washington Was Celebrated Most Generally.

Patriotism was rampant in Richmond yesterday, and the national day of the Father of His Country was remembered by young and old America alike.

The day was, probably, more unusually celebrated than upon any former occasion in recent years. In addition to the closing of Federal, State, and municipal offices, many manufacturing concerns and other business firms closed down for a whole and a part of the day. The banks and the exchanges did no business, and the clubs had open house.

Last night many of the secret orders held smokers and receptions in commemoration of that day. The most elaborate of these entertainments was that given by the Daughters of Liberty at Corcoran Hall, where an oyster supper was served. The Blues paraded in the afternoon and at night had an entertainment at their armory. A salute was given the Washington Monument in Capitol Square, and the handsome body of soldiers marched through the principal streets, where they were greeted by crowds of people on holiday parade.

In Main Street very little business was done, but Broad Street resembled nothing less than a holiday appearance. Many private parties were given at which the many stories concerning the great Washington were related. The patriotic societies celebrated in their usual way, and the Richmond Grays' Association observed their annual reunion in an atmosphere teeming with Washingtonians. Altogether, a more general observance has not been held here for years.

Yesterday having been observed as the anniversary of the birthday of General Washington, the Federal offices were closed, except that the postoffice was open for the sale of stamps up to noon, and there was a morning delivery of mail. A few of the officials, of their assistants, were in their respective offices to attend to some business matters that had accumulated upon their hands.

Earl of Dunraven Talks About Irish Land Question.

A FINAL SETTLEMENT

Bill, if Drawn on Line of Report, He Says, Will Remove the Cause of Friction, Which is Reacting on Great Britain.

(By Associated Press.)
LONDON, February 23.—The Earl of Dunraven was interviewed to-night regarding the report of the Irish landlords and tenants' conference in Dublin, of which he was chairman. He spoke hopefully regarding the prospects of legislation which he thought would end the difficulties in Ireland. Lord Dunraven said: "The utterances of King Edward of British public men, the temper of Ireland, the reception of the conference's report by the public and the action of the government since the publication of the report are all favorable indications pointing to the success of the government's Irish land bill, which, if it contains a just and generous offer, will make good the first impression on which all depends. The bill, if drawn on the lines of the terms of the report, will insure a final settlement and remove the cause of friction in Ireland, which is reacting unfavorably not only in Great Britain, but throughout the Empire, and on our kindred in the United States."

Lord Dunraven replied to the adverse criticism of the report, saying that the conference could not lay down a specific course to be followed, but that he was dealing with the matter on the broadest lines, considering both the interests of the nation and those of the individual landlords and tenants. He did not think that the government would be able to specify a strict formula, which, if adopted, would confuse the issue. The minor details of any plan based on voluntarism must be left to the purchasers and sellers. The conference under which it would be possible to complete the transfer of the land within a reasonable period. His lordship concluded by saying that he did not think that the demand on the State treasury would be disproportionate to the benefits gained.

Cry for Apartment Houses Here Finding Some Response.

Two more apartment houses are now being contemplated. Captain Andrew Pizini and Mr. Louis Pizini, his brother, have carried out consideration, which, if carried out, will call for an expenditure of $15,000. The site of the proposed structure is yet to be determined upon. The Hotel Majestic, of New York city, which is being reproduced, this is regarded as one of the best family hotels in the world.

Property on West Avenue was sold yesterday by the Real Estate Trust Company, and the purchaser, whose name is not given, will erect two modern apartment houses on the site.

Sultan of Turkey Agrees to Measures Proposed in Joint Note of Powers.

(By Associated Press.)
CONSTANTINOPLE, February 23.—Tawfik Pasha, the Minister of Foreign Affairs, notified the Austro-Hungarian and Russian ambassadors to-day that the Sultan had agreed to adopt the scheme for reforms in Macedonia. The powers recommended, in addition to the appointment of an inspector-general of gendarmerie for three years, with ample powers to act independently and to requisition troops in case of emergency, and the reorganization of the gendarmerie and police under European officers, and that Christians be admitted into the gendarmerie in numbers proportionate to the population, without being required to read and write the Turkish language. Amnesty is also demanded for all persons who have been arrested for political offenses.

The scheme for administration and financial reforms in Macedonia, as proposed by the powers in the note, besides planning a more equitable collection of taxes, provides that local expenses shall be a direct charge on the revenues of each vilayet. In the event of there being a surplus it may be sent to Constantinople. Measures are also demanded for compelling the Albanians to respect the laws, the powers which is proposed to give to the inspector-general of gendarmerie, whose appointment or recall and whose successor must be confirmed by the powers, thus virtually detaching him from the direct control of the authorities at Constantinople, is almost sure to incur opposition from the Turkish Government. The latter also will most likely object to the proposed financial arrangements and to the basis on which it is planned to reorganize the gendarmerie, which, were the suggestions of the powers carried out, would in several districts be entirely composed of Christians, owing to their predominance in certain parts of Macedonia. It is understood, however, that the powers are determined to admit of no modification of the reform scheme; that they demand its application without delay and that they are prepared to adopt coercive measures to insure its being scrupulously carried out.

An imperial irade has been issued authorizing the Turkish minister of war to purchase ten additional Maxim rapid-fire guns.

GRAZED BY LIQUOR HE SHOT AT WOMAN

And Then Edward Nash Was Overpowered and Taken to the Station.

Imagining himself a citizen of the wild and woolly west, his brain benumbed by too much whiskey, Edward Nash, a negro well known to the police, dashed out of a bar at the corner of Second and Byrd Streets this morning, discharging a revolver in the air. As a consequence Mary Carter, a negro woman, about nineteen years of age, was wounded in the left breast, while Nash was overpowered and arrested by Patrolmen Neils, Toler and Bryant. He is now a prisoner at the police station, and this morning, provided the woman is sufficiently well, he will be arraigned in the Police Court. The woman was shot down in her tracks without so much as even suspecting that danger was near. She was returning to her home in Morgan's Row, near the scene of the tragedy, when the shooting occurred. She was removed to the parental roof, and here Dr. Fleegler of the ambulance corps, dressed the wound, which he pronounced serious and possibly fatal.

After shooting the woman Nash made no decided effort to get away. He merely realized the purport of the accident, and before he was taken to the other women had relieved him of his weapon. They detained him until the police arrived. Edward Nash, Toler and Neils were in different parts of the city at the time of the shooting, but all were attracted to the spot by the sound of the shots, three of which were discharged. They reached Second and Byrd Streets about 11 o'clock, and at once ascertained the trouble.

When the officers, however, attempted to arrest Nash, he showed fight, declaring that enough police were not in Richmond to effect his capture. It was only whiskey talking, and this the officers knew, for without so much as striking the man he was overpowered and held until the patrol wagon arrived on the scene. In this he was hustled and carried to the station.

At the Theatres.

"Zig Zag Alley" is appropriately named a trick farce. The slap stick plays one of the most important parts in the piece. The characters are made up of Irishmen—a Hebrew pawnbroker, who conformed to all the rules of farce-comedy, but was not at all like any of his race; a messenger boy, too quick to be anything like the story of his play; a dress-suit tramps of the usual type; an Irish wash lady, a soubrette, who dressed like the principal female rider in a high top, and a lot of girls, who are just thrown in for "love" and "laughter."

All of these sing and dance and generally mix themselves up through the three acts in a manner that it altogether satisfactory to the audience. At least, so it seemed to-night.

The performance is half vaudeville, and there were several members that were exceptionally clever. The trick riding of Zeb and Zarrow was one of these. The story of the play, the acts of its kind ever seen here. The two performers can do almost anything on a wheel. It must make the members of the orchestra feel very uneasy during the progress of the act. It seems about certain that the riders will spill themselves over into the orchestra just before they finish their exhibition. Ella, billed for the story of "The Nightingale," does a singing act that calls for several encores. The conversational song in the second act also caught on well.

Lillie Slegger rendered a concert solo, the effect of which was somewhat spoiled by the pantomime business of the others who occupied the stage during this number.

The performance lasted nearly three hours, and it was enjoyed throughout by the usual Monday night audience.

Broadhurst & Currie's big musical comedy, "Mr. Jolly of Joliet," which comes to the Academy to-night, is the latest offering of these popular managers, and from its record up to date it bids fair to outstrip many of its older rivals in the race for public approval. The author, Charles Newman, has selected the subject for the story of his play that will interest all people who enjoy the relation of facts and fancies of stage life. It tells of a prominent tragedian, who, on account of his waning popularity, is obliged to enter the vaudeville business, and, together with his leading lady, become a comic song and dance team. It will be seen at once that there is a great deal of humor in the play, and the comic treatment of the situation and dialogue by the author has resulted in an extremely clever entertainment. The company is headed by the unique comedian, Edward Gaylor, and in addition to a large company of clever performers it carries a specially selected chorus of lovely girls.

In Lewis Morrison's elaborate presentation of the new "Punch" much difficulty is experienced on one night stands in placing the scenery, which is of an intricate and complicated kind. It is therefore customary for the advance agent to question the local managers as to the exact measurement of the stage, height, depth and width. He also inquires into the character of the company, who provides accordingly. Another necessary feature is a number of trap doors from which flames burst in the Broken Reins and Satan's Inferno, the two latter of the lower inferno at his command.

In one Western city some seasons ago, after the usual inquiries as to measurements, which seemed to annoy the local manager for some unexplained reason (possibly because he "ran a dairy and didn't know much about the pony house"), the agent asked, "How many traps have you?" The answer was, "We have no traps here, but we have a lot of traps here." The agent then asked, "How many traps have you?" The answer was, "We have no traps here, but we have a lot of traps here." The agent then asked, "How many traps have you?" The answer was, "We have no traps here, but we have a lot of traps here."

BIRTHDAY OF WASHINGTON

People May Be Led for a Time by a False and Tinsel Military Glory, but Will Return to Principles of Washington.

(By Associated Press.)
CHICAGO, ILL., February 23.—The anniversary of the birth of George Washington was generally observed in Chicago to-day, the principal celebration being that under the auspices of the Union League Club this evening in the auditorium, Senator George Hoar, of Massachusetts, was the orator of the day and delivered an eulogy upon Washington before an audience of 4,000 people. His address was in part as follows:

"Edward Everett in a great oration before the war called upon his countrymen as it seemed for a time in vain, to forget, to turn a deaf ear to unpatriotic counsels, to the mad cry of treason and disunion and return once more to the patriotic cause of Washington. It seemed for a time as if the appeal were unheeded, but the spasm of popular madness and rage passed by and Washington resumed his place again as our supreme counsellor and leader. He became once more the example and idol of every American soldier and statesman, and the farewell address became once again the political bible of every American."

"Doubt not that this shall happen again and again. Other temptations will come to us and party spirit, like Satan sitting at the ear of Eve, will speak again his baleful counsel, the cry of the world and the temporary effect of the war will again lead us to the mad cry of treason and disunion and return once more to the patriotic cause of Washington. It seemed for a time as if the appeal were unheeded, but the spasm of popular madness and rage passed by and Washington resumed his place again as our supreme counsellor and leader. He became once more the example and idol of every American soldier and statesman, and the farewell address became once again the political bible of every American."
